

Trust That's the buzzword at the center of our corporate philosophy. We work with community leaders, officials, trade partners, and other corporations to ensure our mining operations meet every applicable safety standard. Geotex is dedicated to our partners over everything else.

MINING THAT EXTRACTS VALUE

MINING DOESN'T HAVE TO BE A DIRTY JOB

The traditional view of mining is that it's environmentally unsafe, dangerous, and largely wasteful. This is largely thanks to outdated, decades old mining techniques that some companies still insist on using to this very day. But we know better. We know alternatives exist, and we're using those alternatives to add value to you.

GEOTEX IS MAKING MINING BETTER

Times change, and industry has to change with it. This is the central dynamic that powers the Geotex philosophy. Rather than rely on methods that have been proven inefficient, Geotex is dedicated to exploring new technologies and techniques to bring mining into the new millenium. From investing in cutting-edge equipment to exploring advances in science and geology, Geotex works hard to gaurantee you get the absolute best value possible.

MINING CAN BE ECO-FRIENDLY

There's no reason ecology and industry have to be at odds with each other. Geotex specializes in sustainable long-term mining projects that do a minimum of damage to the environment. Whether we're collecting mineral depositis, natural gas, or simply excavating areas for future projects, Geotex takes every precaution to protect the local ecology.

Ecologically sound mining techniques: we aim to do as little damage to the local environment as possible.

Safety is our Main Goal: We take every measure to ensure our operations meet every safety standard.

Modern Technology: We keep abreast of the latest techniques to ensure your value.

"We don't just extract resources, we extract value, and pass that on to our clients."

- Jack Grester, CEO
